Thomas W. Warsop, III

Group President, Financial Institution Services

Thomas W. (Tom) Warsop, Group President, Financial Institutions Services, Fiserv, Inc, oversees approximately half of the company, including lending, item processing, debit/credit ATM processing, cash and logistics, ACH solutions, risk and compliance and performance solutions. Warsop was promoted to this position in December 2008. He has deep experience serving large global clients, and leads the company's international strategy.

Warsop joined Fiserv in January 2007 as the Group President of Financial Institutions. He led the effort to significantly strengthen and expand Fiserv technology products and services offerings to meet the needs of the market. He was also very instrumental in the integration of CheckFree since Fiserv acquired the electronic commerce leader in December 2007.

Prior to Fiserv, Warsop spent 17 years with EDS, where he was most recently Vice President, Financial Services Industry Group. There he led a $2 billion business with more than 10,000 people. Before that, Warsop served in a variety of leadership roles at EDS around the world. He began his career at UMB Bancshares in Kansas City, Mo.

Born in 1966, Warsop received his bachelor's degree in finance from Southern Methodist University in Dallas, TX and a certificate of international finance from the University of Copenhagen in Denmark.

Warsop is a Certified Management Accountant and a board member of the Business Council of New York. He is also on the board of the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, where he has twice served as chair of the Manhattan Walk to Cure Diabetes.

Warsop lives in Wisconsin with his wife Christine, two young daughters, Elizabeth and Samantha, and a very small dog named Daisy.
